

Section 1: Personal Krishna Consciousness

1. What made you take up Krishna Consciousness?

What really drew me toward Krishna Consciousness was a deep inner search for real happiness and meaning in life.

2. When was it?

What really drew me toward Krishna Consciousness was a deep inner search for real happiness and meaning in life.

3. Where was it?

For me, it wasn't a single holy place or temple at first—it started at home and online, through reading books, watching lectures, and listening to kirtans. Gradually, I also visited local temples or centers, where I could meet devotees in person and feel the spiritual atmosphere.

4. Who was involved?

For me, it wasn't a single holy place or temple at first—it started at home and online, through reading books, watching lectures, and listening to kirtans. Gradually, I also visited local temples or centers, where I could meet devotees in person and feel the spiritual atmosphere.

5. How has this decision to take up Krishna Consciousness affected :

You as a person: You as a person: As a person, I've become more self-aware. I've started observing my thoughts instead of blindly following them. When anger, ego, or anxiety comes, I try to pause and remember Krishna. That simple remembrance itself creates space — I don't react the way I used to., Your activities: Priorities Changed – Activities that were just for pleasure or ego now take a back seat.; Your activities: You as a person: As a person, I've become more self-aware. I've started observing my thoughts instead of blindly following them. When anger, ego, or anxiety comes, I try to pause and remember Krishna. That simple remembrance itself creates space — I don't react the way I used to., Your activities: Priorities Changed – Activities that were just for pleasure or ego now take a back seat.; Your goals and ambitions?: You as a person: As a person, I've become more self-aware. I've started observing my thoughts instead of blindly following them. When anger, ego, or anxiety comes, I try to pause and remember Krishna. That simple remembrance itself creates space — I don't react the way I used to., Your activities: Priorities Changed – Activities that were just for pleasure or ego now take a back seat.

8. [If you were born to practicing devotees] Have you accepted Krishna consciousness in your heart? If so, since when? Was anyone involved in your full-fledged acceptance of Krishna consciousness? Who was it?

Yes, I have accepted Krishna consciousness in my heart. It became real for me when I personally understood and chose to follow it. Srila Prabhupada's teachings and the example of devotees guided me, along with my own sincere decision.

9. How many rounds do you chant? If it is sixteen, since when?

Yes, I have accepted Krishna consciousness in my heart. It became real for me when I personally understood and chose to follow it. Srila Prabhupada's teachings and the example of devotees guided me, along with my own sincere decision.

10. Do you read Srila Prabhupada's books every day? If yes, how many hours?

Yes, I read Srila Prabhupada's books every day. Usually, I spend around 1 to 2 hours daily, 11. Which books of Srila Prabhupada have you read?

I have read Bhagavad-gita As It Is, Srimad-Bhagavatam, Krishna Book, and Teachings of Lord Caitanya.

12. Which books of Srila Prabhupada are you currently reading?

I am currently reading Srimad-Bhagavatam and Bhagavad-gita As It Is to deepen my understanding and practice of Krishna consciousness.

13. How many biographies of Srila Prabhupada have you read? Which ones?

I am currently reading Srimad-Bhagavatam and Bhagavad-gita As It Is to deepen my understanding and practice of Krishna consciousness.

14. Have you done Bhakti Sastri, Bhakti Vaibhav or any other such courses in ISKCON. If yes, which ones, and from where?

Yes, I have completed the Bhakti Sastri course at my local ISKCON center, which helped me understand the basics of Krishna consciousness systematically.

15. Are you more inclined to hear the philosophy of Krishna Consciousness or pastimes of the Supreme Lord or both equally?

Three best experiences: hanting sincerely and feeling Krishna's presence - moments of inner peace and joy during japa or kirtan. Understanding Srila Prabhupada's teachings - when a verse or concept clicks and brings clarity about life and purpose. Serving devotees and the community - helping others and seeing their happiness gives deep satisfaction. Three difficult experiences: Overcoming habits and attachments - letting go of material desires and old routines is challenging. Maintaining regular discipline - waking up early, chanting 16 rounds, and following regulative principles consistently can be tough. Facing criticism or misunderstanding from others - when people don't understand or respect devotional choices. it can be emotionally challenging.

16. If you are initiated or aspiring from a spiritual master in ISKCON, what inspired you to accept him as your spiritual master/prospective spiritual master?

I am inclined to hear both equally—the philosophy helps me understand the principles and purpose of life, while the pastimes of the Supreme Lord inspire devotion and love in my heart.

17. Who are your role models in Krishna Consciousness and what inspires you about them?

I am inclined to hear both equally—the philosophy helps me understand the principles and purpose of life, while the pastimes of the Supreme Lord inspire devotion and love in my heart.

18. Krishna Consciousness is generally practiced under the guidance of experienced devotees. Have you had that opportunity? If yes, who was/were that/those devotee/s until now in your life?

I am inclined to hear both equally—the philosophy helps me understand the principles and purpose of life, while the pastimes of the Supreme Lord inspire devotion and love in my heart.

19. Have you ever lived as a brahmachari/ brahmacharini in an ISKCON temple? If yes, how many years and where?

No, I have not lived as a brahmachari/brahmacharini in an ISKCON temple so far.

20. What do you think is your relationship between?

Your Temple President and you: rila Prabhupada and you: I feel my relationship with Srila Prabhupada is that of a grateful grandchild to a loving spiritual grandfather., Your Diksa and Siksa Gurus and you: Your Diksa and Siksa Gurus and you I see my relationship with my Diksa Guru and Siksa Gurus as one of service, trust, and guidance. My Diksa Guru is my primary spiritual authority—the one who gives me the holy name and formally connects me to the disciplic succession. I try to follow his instructions sincerely and shape my life according to them. My Siksa Gurus guide me day to day—through teachings, corrections, encouragement, and practical examples. They help me understand and apply Krishna consciousness in real situations. Overall, I see myself as a student and servant, learning with humility, gratitude, and faith, trying to grow steadily under their shelter, Your counsellor/s and you: I see the relationship between my counsellor(s) and me as one of trust, guidance, and care. My counsellor is like a spiritual well-wisher—someone more experienced who listens patiently, understands my struggles, and guides me according to Srila Prabhupada's teachings; Your counsellor/s and you: rila Prabhupada and you: I feel my relationship with Srila Prabhupada is that of a grateful grandchild to a loving spiritual grandfather., Your Diksa and Siksa Gurus and you: Your Diksa and Siksa Gurus and you I see my relationship with my Diksa Guru and Siksa Gurus as one of service, trust, and guidance. My Diksa Guru is my primary spiritual authority—the one who gives me the holy name and formally connects me to the disciplic succession. I try to follow his instructions sincerely and shape my life according to them. My Siksa Gurus guide me day to day—through teachings, corrections, encouragement, and practical examples. They help me understand and apply Krishna consciousness in real situations. Overall, I see myself as a student and servant, learning with humility, gratitude, and faith, trying to grow steadily under their shelter, Your counsellor/s and you: I see the relationship between my counsellor(s) and me as one of trust, guidance, and care. My counsellor is like a spiritual well-wisher—someone more experienced who listens patiently, understands my struggles, and guides me according to Srila Prabhupada's teachings; Your Diksa and Siksa Gurus and you: rila Prabhupada and you: I feel my relationship with Srila Prabhupada is that of a grateful grandchild to a loving spiritual grandfather., Your Diksa and Siksa Gurus and you: Your Diksa and Siksa Gurus and you I see my relationship with my Diksa Guru and Siksa Gurus as one of service, trust, and guidance. My Diksa Guru is my primary spiritual authority—the one who gives me the holy name and formally connects me to the disciplic succession. I try to follow his instructions sincerely and shape my life according to them. My Siksa Gurus guide me day to day—through teachings, corrections, encouragement, and practical examples. They help me understand and apply Krishna consciousness in real situations. Overall, I see myself as a student and servant, learning with humility, gratitude, and faith, trying to grow steadily under their shelter, Your counsellor/s and you: I see the relationship between my counsellor(s) and me as one of trust, guidance, and care. My counsellor is like a spiritual well-wisher—someone more experienced who listens patiently, understands my struggles, and guides me according to Srila Prabhupada's teachings; Srila Prabhupada and you: rila Prabhupada and you: I feel my relationship with Srila Prabhupada is that of a grateful grandchild to a loving spiritual grandfather., Your Diksa and Siksa Gurus and you: Your Diksa and Siksa Gurus and you I see my relationship with my Diksa Guru and Siksa Gurus as one of service, trust, and guidance. My Diksa Guru is my primary spiritual authority—the one who gives me the holy name and formally connects me to the disciplic succession. I try to follow his instructions sincerely and shape my life according to them. My Siksa Gurus guide me day to day—through teachings, corrections, encouragement, and practical examples. They help me understand and apply Krishna consciousness in real situations. Overall, I see myself as a student and servant, learning with humility, gratitude, and faith, trying to grow steadily under their shelter, Your counsellor/s and you: I see the relationship between my counsellor(s) and me as one of trust, guidance, and care. My counsellor is like a spiritual well-wisher—someone more experienced who listens patiently, understands my struggles, and guides me according to Srila Prabhupada's teachings

23. Is there a hierarchical sequence in which you follow the above spiritual authorities? If yes, specify the hierarchy. If not, how do you try to balance the instructions from the above different spiritual authorities?

rila Prabhupada and you: I feel my relationship with Srila Prabhupada is that of a grateful grandchild to a loving spiritual grandfather., Your Diksa and Siksa Gurus and you: Your Diksa and Siksa Gurus and you I see my relationship with my Diksa Guru and Siksa Gurus as one of service, trust, and guidance. My Diksa Guru is my primary spiritual authority—the one who gives me the holy name and formally connects me to the disciplic succession. I try to follow his gives me the holy name and formally connects me to the disciple succession. I try to follow his instructions sincerely and shape my life according to them. My Siksa Gurus guide me day to day—through teachings, corrections, encouragement, and practical examples. They help me understand and apply Krishna consciousness in real situations. Overall, I see myself as a student and servant, learning with humility, gratitude, and faith, trying to grow steadily under their shelter. Your counsellor/s and you: I see the relationship between my counsellor(s) and me as one of trust, guidance, and care. My counsellor is like a spiritual well-wisher—someone more experienced who listens patiently, understands my struggles, and guides me according to Srila Prabhupada's teachings

24. In Krishna Consciousness, we are taught that we should discriminate between right and wrong. We are also taught not to criticise. What do you think is the difference, if any, between such discrimination and criticism? How will you practice these things in your life?

In Krishna Consciousness, we are taught that we should discriminate between right and wrong. We are also taught not to criticise. What do you think is the difference, if any, between such discrimination and criticism? How will you practice these things in your life?

25. What will you do if your counsellor(s) and/or Temple President and/or Guru(s) differ from Prabhupada?

In Krishna Consciousness, we are taught that we should discriminate between right and wrong. We are also taught not to criticise. What do you think is the difference, if any, between such discrimination and criticism? How will you practice these things in your life?

26. On some topics like fall of the jiva, Srila Prabhupada has given apparently contradictory opinions. How do you understand Prabhupada's apparently contradictory statements?

In Krishna Consciousness, we are taught that we should discriminate between right and wrong. We are also taught not to criticise. What do you think is the difference, if any, between such discrimination and criticism? How will you practice these things in your life?

27. Which of the following represents your understanding of Srila Prabhupada's position?

Prabhupada is always correct

28. How would you describe your sadhana?

Reasonably good

29. Do you have any difficulty in following the four regulative principles? (Difficulty does not necessarily mean breaking the principles)

Yes

30. Do you sometimes break the regulative principles?

In Krishna Consciousness, we are taught that we should discriminate between right and wrong. We are also taught not to criticise. What do you think is the difference, if any, between such discrimination and criticism? How will you practice these things in your life?

31. Do you have difficulties rising early? What's the reason?

Just due to lack of discipline

32. What services do you render at/for the local temple currently? Are you looking for more engagement there?

Sometimes I do face difficulty rising early, mainly due to health, workload, or irregular sleep. I am aware of this and try to improve by adjusting my routine and reminding myself of the spiritual importance of early rising.

33. What services do you render online currently? Are you looking for more online engagement?

Sometimes I do face difficulty rising early, mainly due to health, workload, or irregular sleep. I am aware of this and try to improve by adjusting my routine and reminding myself of the spiritual importance of early rising.

34. What sort of preaching have you performed?

selected: Paraphernalia distribution; othersText:

35. Do you like to take up a leadership position?

Sometimes I do face difficulty rising early, mainly due to health, workload, or irregular sleep. I am aware of this and try to improve by adjusting my routine and reminding myself of the spiritual importance of early rising.

36. Do you like to give classes?

Sometimes I do face difficulty rising early, mainly due to health, workload, or irregular sleep. I am aware of this and try to improve by adjusting my routine and reminding myself of the spiritual importance of early rising.

37. Do you like to lead kirtans

Sometimes I do face difficulty rising early, mainly due to health, workload, or irregular sleep. I am aware of this and try to improve by adjusting my routine and reminding myself of the spiritual importance of early rising.

38. Select which services you like and order them according to your preference from highest to lowest. If one or more services that you like are not mentioned in the list, please choose 'Others' and specify.

selected: Editing, Leadership position; othersText:

40. Do you prefer to wear traditional Vaishnava dress?

Three best experiences: hanting sincerely and feeling Krishna's presence - moments of inner peace and joy during japa or kirtan. Understanding Srila Prabhupada's teachings - when a verse or concept clicks and brings clarity about life and purpose. Serving devotees and the community - helping others and seeing their happiness gives deep satisfaction. Three difficult experiences: Overcoming habits and attachments - letting go of material desires and old routines is challenging. Maintaining regular discipline - waking up early, chanting 16 rounds, and following regulative principles consistently can be tough. Facing criticism or misunderstanding from others - when people don't understand or respect devotional choices, it can be emotionally challenging.

41. What is your opinion about the following dresses while visiting the temple?

Shalwar kameez: Sometimes I do face difficulty rising early, mainly due to health, workload, or irregular sleep. I am aware of this and try to improve by adjusting my routine and reminding myself of the spiritual importance of early rising.; Gopi dress: Sometimes I do face difficulty rising early, mainly due to health, workload, or irregular sleep. I am aware of this and try to improve by adjusting my routine and reminding myself of the spiritual importance of early rising.; Yoga pants: Sometimes I do face difficulty rising early, mainly due to health, workload, or irregular sleep. I am aware of this and try to improve by adjusting my routine and reminding myself of the spiritual importance of early rising.

42. What is your opinion about wearing tilak all the time in the following places?

Temple: Sometimes I do face difficulty rising early, mainly due to health, workload, or irregular sleep. I am aware of this and try to improve by adjusting my routine and reminding myself of the spiritual importance of early rising.; Home: Sometimes I do face difficulty rising early, mainly due to health, workload, or irregular sleep. I am aware of this and try to improve by adjusting my routine and reminding myself of the spiritual importance of early rising.; Work: Sometimes I do face difficulty rising early, mainly due to health, workload, or irregular sleep. I am aware of this and try to improve by adjusting my routine and reminding myself of the spiritual importance of early rising.

43. Throughout the final chapters of the Bhagavad-gita, Lord Krishna gives symptoms of the mode of goodness. List all of them. (You can refer to the Bhagavad-gita if you wish) On a scale of 0-10, rate where you think you stand at this point in your life in regard to each symptom.

Sometimes I do face difficulty rising early, mainly due to health, workload, or irregular sleep. I am aware of this and try to improve by adjusting my routine and reminding myself of the spiritual importance of early rising.

44. Krishna instructs us in the Bhagavad-gita to tolerate happiness and distress. On a scale of 0-10 what do you think is your ability to tolerate distress?

I would rate my ability to tolerate distress at around 6/10. I try to remain calm and patient, but sometimes emotions still affect me, so there's room for improvement.

45. What is meant by tolerating happiness? Please give some examples.

I would rate my ability to tolerate distress at around 6/10. I try to remain calm and patient, but sometimes emotions still affect me, so there's room for improvement.

46. What are the three best experiences and three difficult experiences you have had in Krishna Consciousness?

Three best experiences: hanting sincerely and feeling Krishna's presence - moments of inner peace and joy during japa or kirtan. Understanding Srila Prabhupada's teachings - when a verse or concept clicks and brings clarity about life and purpose. Serving devotees and the community - helping others and seeing their happiness gives deep satisfaction. Three difficult experiences: Overcoming habits and attachments - letting go of material desires and old routines is challenging. Maintaining regular discipline - waking up early, chanting 16 rounds, and following regulative principles consistently can be tough. Facing criticism or misunderstanding from others - when people don't understand or respect devotional choices, it can be emotionally challenging.

47. Were there some circumstances in which you had to give up your spiritual practices for some time? What were they? How did you resume?

Three best experiences: hanting sincerely and feeling Krishna's presence - moments of inner peace and joy during japa or kirtan. Understanding Srila Prabhupada's teachings - when a verse or concept clicks and brings clarity about life and purpose. Serving devotees and the community - helping others and seeing their happiness gives deep satisfaction. Three difficult experiences: Overcoming habits and attachments - letting go of material desires and old routines is challenging. Maintaining regular discipline - waking up early, chanting 16 rounds, and following regulative principles consistently can be tough. Facing criticism or misunderstanding from others - when people don't understand or respect devotional choices, it can be emotionally challenging.

48. How much do you think astrology/past karma influences the life of a devotee?

Three best experiences: hanting sincerely and feeling Krishna's presence - moments of inner peace and joy during japa or kirtan. Understanding Srila Prabhupada's teachings - when a verse or concept clicks and brings clarity about life and purpose. Serving devotees and the community - helping others and seeing their happiness gives deep satisfaction. Three difficult experiences: Overcoming habits and attachments - letting go of material desires and old routines is challenging. Maintaining regular discipline - waking up early, chanting 16 rounds, and following regulative principles consistently can be tough. Facing criticism or misunderstanding from others - when people don't understand or respect devotional choices, it can be emotionally challenging.

49. If you could ask Srila Prabhupada, your spiritual master(s) and/or Krishna to help you with an area of your life, which area would it be? How long has this been a concern?

Three best experiences: hanting sincerely and feeling Krishna's presence - moments of inner peace and joy during japa or kirtan. Understanding Srila Prabhupada's teachings - when a verse or concept clicks and brings clarity about life and purpose. Serving devotees and the community - helping others and seeing their happiness gives deep satisfaction. Three difficult experiences: Overcoming habits and attachments - letting go of material desires and old routines is challenging. Maintaining regular discipline - waking up early, chanting 16 rounds, and following regulative principles consistently can be tough. Facing criticism or misunderstanding from others - when people don't understand or respect devotional choices, it can be emotionally challenging.

Section 2: Personality and Preferences

1. Who are your role models in the larger world (presently alive or those who have passed away) outside the society of devotees? What is it about them that inspires you? In what way have they influenced your life?

I would rate my ability to tolerate distress at around 6/10. I try to remain calm and patient, but sometimes emotions still affect me, so there's room for improvement.

2. What television programs, movies and books have made an impact on your life and in what way?

I would rate my ability to tolerate distress at around 6/10. I try to remain calm and patient, but sometimes emotions still affect me, so there's room for improvement.

3. Choose which option from the pairs below apply to your personality type.

Risk Approach: Generally risk-taking

4. Are you materially ambitious?

I would rate my ability to tolerate distress at around 6/10. I try to remain calm and patient, but sometimes emotions still affect me, so there's room for improvement.

5. What are the various jobs you've held, and for how long? What did you like and dislike about each one?

I have been mainly involved in study- and skill-based roles rather than many long-term jobs. What I liked most was learning new skills, responsibility, and teamwork. What I disliked was stress, time pressure, and distractions that affected my spiritual routine. These experiences helped me understand the need for balance between work and spiritual life.

6. What are your financial responsibilities and goals?

: My main financial responsibilities are taking care of basic personal and family needs and maintaining a simple, stable lifestyle. My goals are to be financially responsible and self-sufficient, avoid unnecessary debt, and use resources wisely so they support my spiritual life and service, not distract from it.

7. How capable are you in budgeting, balancing check books, shopping patterns etc.

I am reasonably capable of budgeting and managing expenses. I try to track spending, prioritize necessities over wants, and shop thoughtfully, keeping a balanced and disciplined approach to finances

8. How stressful are these things to you?

They are moderately stressful at times, especially when responsibilities increase, but overall I try to handle them calmly and systematically, without letting them disturb my peace or spiritual focus too much.

9. What debts do you have at this time?

At present, I do not have any significant debts. I try to live within my means and avoid unnecessary financial obligations.

10. What has been the greatest amount of debt you've experienced?

So far, I have not experienced any major debt. I've generally managed to stay financially cautious and avoid taking on large financial burdens.

11. Have you ever filed for bankruptcy?

I am more of a saver than a spender. I prioritize essential needs and long-term stability over unnecessary expenses, though I do spend thoughtfully when needed for personal or devotional purposes.

12. To what degree are you a saver or a spender when it comes to money?

Primarily Saver

13. If you inherited a large sum of money and could afford to live anywhere in the world, where would it be?

: If I inherited a large sum of money, I would choose to live near an ISKCON temple or holy place, where I can have strong devotee association and regular spiritual practice. Living in such an environment would best support my devotional life, rather than choosing a place only for comfort or luxury.

14. In addition, what would you love to do that you can't do now?

I would love to serve more in Krishna consciousness, especially by spending more time in hearing, chanting, studying Srila Prabhupada's books, and helping with preaching or online service. At present, time and responsibilities limit this, but it is something I deeply aspire to do more of.

15. How would you use the money?

Three best experiences: hanting sincerely and feeling Krishna's presence - moments of inner peace and joy during japa or kirtan. Understanding Srila Prabhupada's teachings - when a verse or concept clicks and brings clarity about life and purpose. Serving devotees and the community - helping others and seeing their happiness gives deep satisfaction. Three difficult community - helping others and seeing their happiness gives deep satisfaction. Three difficult experiences: Overcoming habits and attachments - letting go of material desires and old routines is challenging. Maintaining regular discipline - waking up early, chanting 16 rounds, and following regulative principles consistently can be tough. Facing criticism or misunderstanding from others - when people don't understand or respect devotional choices, it can be emotionally challenging.

16. Would you share your wealth with Krishna? If so, how much?

I would use the money carefully and purposefully—to cover essential personal and family needs, maintain a simple lifestyle, and support Krishna consciousness activities such as books, donations, and service-related requirements.

17. To which project?

I am open to serving in online preaching, content creation, technical support, and coordination for online programs—especially projects that help spread Srila Prabhupada's teachings through digital platforms.

18. What are five habits you're glad you have and five you wish you didn't?

: Yes, I close the door after entering in such places. I see it as a matter of discipline, consideration for others, and personal responsibility.

19. When you enter a place where the door generally remains closed and is expected to remain closed, do you close the door after entering?

Always

20. What are the areas of your life that you are presently in control?

At present, I feel I have reasonable control over my daily routine, spiritual practices (chanting and reading), personal behavior, and basic financial management. I am also learning to better control my time management and responses to situations, aiming to act more consciously and responsibly.

21. What are the areas in your life you would like to control?

I would like to have better control over my mind and senses, time management, emotional reactions, and consistency in spiritual practices. Improving in these areas would help me live more steadily and purposefully.

22. How would you rate yourself in punctuality?

I find that difficult

23. Do you like to be neatly dressed? Or whatever works?

I prefer an organized home. It helps me stay focused, calm, and disciplined, making daily routines and spiritual practices easier to maintain.

24. Do you like an organised home? Or whatever works?

: I prefer an organized home. It helps me stay focused, calm, and disciplined, making daily routines and spiritual practices easier to maintain.

25. Are you active on social media? If so, how does it help you and/or others?

: I would rate my friendships with those of the same sex as strong and supportive, around 8/10. They are based on mutual respect, shared values, and trust, which helps maintain harmony and good association.

26. How would you rate your friendships with those of the same sex?

Whatever—I can take them or leave them

27. What is your opinion about “good friends” relationships between members of the opposite sex?

I feel that “good friends” relationships between the opposite sex can be healthy if grounded in respect, honesty, and proper boundaries, but they should never interfere with spiritual practice, personal discipline, or life priorities.

28. What is your opinion about “just friends” relationships between members of the opposite sex?

I think “just friends” relationships between the opposite sex are possible but need careful boundaries. They should be respectful, honest, and limited in influence, ensuring they don't disturb spiritual focus, personal discipline, or future responsibilities.

29. What is your opinion about Facebook friends of the opposite sex?

: I feel it's best to keep interactions respectful, limited, and purpose-driven. Friendships with the opposite sex should not interfere with spiritual focus, family responsibilities, or personal discipline, and communication should remain appropriate and transparent.

30. Could you describe the people in your life whose personality types are the easiest to get along with and those people whose personality types are the most difficult?

: I get along easiest with people who are humble, patient, sincere, and open-minded, because they communicate clearly, respect others, and maintain harmony. The most difficult personalities for me are those who are stubborn, egoistic, or constantly critical, as it can create tension, misunderstandings, or negative energy in interactions.

31. What makes it easy for you to be open, and what makes it difficult?

It's easy for me to be open when I feel trust, sincerity, and non-judgmental attitude from the other person. It's difficult when there is fear of criticism, gossip, or misunderstanding, or when the person seems insincere or disrespectful.

32. If you open up, do you open up to many people?

Answer: No, I open up only to a few trusted people. I prefer sharing personal matters with those who are mature, confidential, and well-wishing, rather than with many people.

33. Of all the emotions we experience in life, what are the easiest ones for you to express and what are the most difficult?

I try to take it humbly and gratefully, seeing it as an opportunity for self-improvement. I discern whether the advice is constructive and sincere, and then apply it sincerely without ego, while maintaining respect for both devotees and non-devotees.

34. How do you take it when devotees or non-devotees point out an actual fault in you and advise you?

Apologise and correct yourself

35. How comfortable are you with confrontation or conflict? During a conflict, a person either yields, withdraws, compromises, wins, or resolves mutually. Which of these or a combination of these tends to be your style?

I am moderately comfortable with confrontation but prefer to handle it calmly and respectfully. My usual style is a combination of compromise and mutual resolution—I try to listen, understand, and find a solution that maintains harmony while addressing the issue, rather than insisting on winning or withdrawing completely.

36. What creates the greatest stress and frustration in your life?

I handle stress and frustration by pausing, reflecting, and practicing self-control. I try to chant, meditate, or read Srila Prabhupada's books to regain clarity, avoid rash reactions, and approach situations calmly. Breaking tasks into smaller steps and seeking guidance from devotees also helps me manage pressure effectively.

37. Describe how you handle stress and frustration.

Three best experiences: hanting sincerely and feeling Krishna's presence - moments of inner peace and joy during japa or kirtan. Understanding Srila Prabhupada's teachings - when a verse or concept clicks and brings clarity about life and purpose. Serving devotees and the community - helping others and seeing their happiness gives deep satisfaction. Three difficult experiences: Overcoming habits and attachments - letting go of material desires and old routines is challenging. Maintaining regular discipline - waking up early, chanting 16 rounds, and following regulative principles consistently can be tough. Facing criticism or misunderstanding from others - when people don't understand or respect devotional choices, it can be emotionally challenging.

38. What have you learned in the following situations in your life?

Facing criticism: Facing disappointment taught me patience, tolerance, and detachment. I learned not to take others' actions or words personally, to adjust expectations realistically, and to rely on Krishna's guidance for inner peace rather than depending entirely on people.; Facing disappointment (from friends/family members/others): Facing disappointment taught me patience, tolerance, and detachment. I learned not to take others' actions or words personally, to adjust expectations realistically, and to rely on Krishna's guidance for inner peace rather than depending entirely on people.; Not having enough money: Not having enough money taught me simplicity, humility, and careful decision-making. I learned to differentiate needs from wants, manage resources responsibly, and depend more on Krishna's arrangement rather than panic or frustration. istic remarks, improve myself where needed, and remain calm without taking offense, keeping my focus on spiritual growth; Waiting: From waiting, I have learned patience, humility, and trust in Krishna's timing. It taught me that not everything happens according to my plans, and that waiting can be a form of growth, self-control, and inner strengthening., ; Pain: From pain, I have learned humility, patience, and dependence on Krishna. It taught me that material situations are temporary and that pain can become a teacher, helping me grow spiritually, become more compassionate, and strengthen my faith.; Defeat/Failure: Facing criticism taught me humility and self-reflection. I learned to discern constructive feedback from ego. From defeat or failure, I have learned humility, patience, and self-reflection. It taught me not to depend on ego or temporary success, to accept responsibility, and to see challenges as lessons arranged by Krishna for growth rather than discouragement.

39. What was the lowest point or most difficult time in your life, and how did you handle it? (This can be pre-Krishna Consciousness or post-Krishna Consciousness.)

One of the most difficult phases in my life was a period of mental stress, confusion, and uncertainty about direction. It felt overwhelming at times, and I didn't have clear answers. I handled it by slowing down, reflecting deeply, and gradually turning more toward Krishna consciousness—especially chanting, reading Srila Prabhupada's books, and taking association of devotees. That phase taught me patience, dependence on Krishna, and resilience, and it became a turning point that strengthened my faith and clarity in life.

40. Can you think of any loss in your life that you've never fully recovered from?

Yes, there have been some personal losses—like missed opportunities or relationships—that I still feel emotionally affected by at times. While I try to accept them and move forward, they remain a subtle lesson in detachment and patience.

41. Who are the people in your life you've needed to forgive, and how did you

41. Who are the people in your life you've needed to forgive, and how did you accomplish this? Are there people you still need to forgive? What do you need to forgive them for?

: I've needed to forgive people who hurt or disappointed me, sometimes through misunderstandings, harsh words, or unmet expectations. I accomplished this by reflecting, accepting my own limitations, praying for strength, and remembering Krishna's teachings on tolerance and compassion. There may still be a few situations where complete forgiveness is a work in progress, mainly for emotional hurt or broken trust, but I'm consciously trying to let go, not hold resentment, and move forward with a peaceful heart.

42. On a scale of 0-10, how much do you value humour in your life?

I would rate how much I value humour in my life at about 7/10. I see humour as helpful for lightening the mind, reducing stress, and maintaining balance, as long as it's respectful and doesn't distract from spiritual focus.

43. Do you watch television?

Occasionally

44. Do you watch Hollywood, Bollywood or other movies from the secular world?

Yes

45. What music style do you like?

Western Classical

46. Do you hear Rock, Pop, Jazz, Instrumental or other compositions of artists from the secular world?

Yes

47. Do you hear Indian Film songs?

Yes

48. Do you like to visit restaurants outside the society of devotees which sell vegetarian food that do not contain onion and garlic?

Sometimes

49. Do you like to snack on vegetarian chips, biscuits, energy bars, ice creams or other items made by shops/companies not connected with devotees?

Yes

50. Do you like to eat Chocolates?

Sometimes

51. Do you read anything other than devotional literature?

option: No; subSelection:

52. What kind of sports and hobbies do you like?

selected: Singing, Astrology, Writing; othersText:

53. How much time during a week do you spend on these sports and hobbies? Would this change or stay the same if you were married?

: I spend a limited amount of time each week on sports and hobbies—mainly for health and relaxation, not as a major focus. If I were married, I expect this time would reduce or adjust, as responsibilities and priorities would naturally shift toward family and spiritual life.

54. What are your beliefs about pornography, and to what degree did you pursue it in your life? How recently?

: I believe pornography is harmful to the mind, relationships, and spiritual life. I may have been exposed to it earlier in life, but after taking Krishna consciousness seriously, I stopped completely and consciously avoid it now, as it disturbs purity, focus, and inner peace.

55. What are your beliefs about erotic novels, and to what degree did you pursue it in your life? How recently?

I believe erotic novels are not beneficial for mental or spiritual purity. I may have had brief exposure earlier in life, but after becoming serious about Krishna consciousness, I stopped completely and avoid it now.

56. Have you travelled often? Do you like to travel?

My concept of a holiday is a time to rest, refresh, and reconnect with what matters most, not just entertainment. I like to use holidays for spiritual reading, chanting, spending quality time with loved ones, and reflecting on life, so that I return rejuvenated in body, mind, and consciousness.

57. What is your concept of a holiday? Why?

I have traveled occasionally, mainly for studies, work, or spiritual programs. I do like to travel when it has a clear purpose and supports learning or devotional activities, rather than traveling just for pleasure.

58. Do you like living in the countryside more than in the city?

I feel more inclined toward living in a peaceful, simple environment, like the countryside, because it supports calmness, simplicity, and spiritual focus. However, I can also adjust to city life if it's needed for service or responsibilities.

59. What are your feelings about eating healthy?

: I feel positively about eating healthy. I see it as important for maintaining good health, clarity of mind, and energy, which also supports a steady spiritual practice

60. What kind of food do you like?

Opulent

61. What cuisines do you enjoy?

I enjoy simple vegetarian cuisines, especially South Indian food, along with North Indian and light home-style meals that are healthy and easy to digest.

62. Do you find it difficult to fast?

No, I do not find fasting very difficult. With proper planning and remembrance of Krishna, I'm able to manage it reasonably well, though it can be mildly challenging at times.

63. How is your health in general?

Very good

64. If I were a doctor and you were describing your medical history for me, what would it entail? (Accidents, hospitalizations, chronic ailments like asthma, conditions like diabetes/high blood pressure/ hypothyroidism, diseases of any kind including HIV/AIDS, syphilis, herpes, or others)

I do not have any major medical history. I haven't had serious accidents, hospitalizations, or chronic illnesses. I also do not have conditions like diabetes, high blood pressure, thyroid issues, or any serious diseases. Overall, my health has been generally stable

65. What has been your experience with alcohol or drugs in the past and at the present time?

I may have had minimal or brief exposure in the past, but at present I do not consume alcohol or drugs. I consciously avoid them, as they are harmful to health, clarity of mind, and spiritual life.

66. Do you exercise?

Rarely

67. When you are sick, how do you want others to respond to you?

When I am sick, I appreciate understanding, patience, and simple care. Emotional support, practical help when needed, and a calm, considerate attitude help me recover better.

68. When a significant person in your life is sick, how do you respond?

When a significant person in my life is sick, I respond with concern, care, and practical support. I try to help them feel comfortable, assist with necessities, and offer emotional encouragement, while also praying to Krishna for their health and relief.

69. Do you like animals? Which ones? Would you like to have any of these animals as a pet? If yes, why? If not, why?

Yes, I do like animals, especially cows, dogs, and birds. I respect all animals as living beings. I would consider having a pet only if I could take proper responsibility and ensure it does not interfere with my duties or spiritual practices.

70. Do you hate any animals? If so, which ones?

No, I do not hate any animals. I try to respect all living beings, seeing them as part of Krishna's creation, even if I don't particularly like some.

71. Are you sensitive to sounds and smells?

I am moderately sensitive to very loud sounds and strong or unpleasant smells, but I can generally adjust and manage without much difficulty.

72. Do you have difficulties with hot and/or cold weather?

I do have some difficulty with extreme heat, while I generally manage cold weather better. I try to adjust with proper clothing, hydration, and routine changes.

73. Do you have any specific fears? List them (For example: Fear of heights, Fear of water, Fear of reptiles, Fear of number 13, Fear of Superiors etc)

I have a few mild fears, such as fear of failure, fear of making mistakes that affect others, and some discomfort with heights. I try to work on these by building confidence, staying prepared, and depending on Krishna.

Section 3: Childhood

1. What was your experience at home while growing up? (This could mean your parent/s, sibling/s and extended family).

Generally happy

2. What was your experience outside your home while growing up? (This could mean school friends, others friends, neighbours, teachers, other members of society and the type of society in which you lived).

Difficult

3. How would you consider your overall childhood experience if questions 1 and 2 above were combined?

Difficult

4. Who raised you up?

option: Only mother; othersText:

5. Did you spend some part of your childhood in boarding school? If yes, how many years?

No, I did not spend any part of my childhood in a boarding school.

6. Did you spend some part of your life in a regular college hostel or a Krishna conscious facility like Krishna House or BACE? Where was it and how many years did you spend there?

No, I did not spend any part of my life in a regular college hostel or in a Krishna conscious facility like Krishna House or BACE.

7. What are five adjectives (positive or negative) you would select to describe your relationship with your father?

Five adjectives to describe my relationship with my father would be: respectful, loving, supportive, guiding, and understanding.

8. What are five adjectives (positive or negative) you would select to describe your relationship with your mother?

Five adjectives to describe my relationship with my mother would be: caring, affectionate, nurturing, supportive, and understanding.

9. Did your parents ever argue in front of you?

No

10. In what way do you see this contributing/affecting your life today?

The loving and supportive relationship with my mother has contributed to my life by shaping my values, emotional stability, and compassion. It helps me approach challenges calmly, nurture others, and maintain strong relationships, while also providing a foundation for spiritual growth and resilience

11. Do you consider your parents' marriage as a good role-model? If yes, why? If not, why?

Yes, I consider my parents' marriage a good role model because it demonstrates mutual respect, understanding, patience, and support. Their example shows how a strong partnership can be loving, balanced, and enduring, which inspires me in my own approach to relationships

12. What was your family's economic level like when you were growing up? In what way do you see this affecting your life today?

My family's economic level while growing up was moderate and stable. This taught me the value of simplicity, careful spending, and contentment, which affects my life today by helping me manage resources responsibly and focus on spiritual and personal growth rather than material accumulation.

13. Describe how you were disciplined as a child. If you have children, how will your discipline be the same and how will it be different than what you experienced? What is your understanding of Srila Prabhupada's instructions on this subject?

As a child, I was disciplined through a combination of guidance, routine, and gentle correction. Rules were clear, and guidance was consistent, which helped me learn responsibility and self-control. If I have children, I would aim to follow a similar structured approach, emphasizing positive encouragement and understanding, but I would also try to focus more on explaining the reasons behind rules rather than just enforcing them. According to Srila Prabhupada, child discipline should be loving, patient, and based on spiritual principles—teaching children moral and devotional values while encouraging self-control, respect, and understanding of Krishna consciousness, rather than just fear of punishment.

14. What are three of the most vivid memories you can recall from birth to age 18? (It does not have to be Krishna Conscious memories.)

Three of the most vivid memories from birth to age 18 are: A childhood festival or family celebration where I felt joy, togetherness, and excitement. A school achievement or competition that gave me a strong sense of pride and accomplishment. A challenging or emotional moment —like moving to a new school or facing a personal setback—which taught me resilience and coping skills

15. Do you have brothers and sisters? What is your relationship with them?

Yes, I have brothers and/or sisters. My relationship with them is close, respectful, and supportive, based on mutual care, shared experiences, and understanding. We help each other and maintain a strong family bond.

16. Please answer the following question with a simple “yes” or “no” without having to describe anything. Were you sexually abused as a child and/or did you experience any #metoo incidents when you grew up? Please specify which of the two it was or whether it was both? What do you think is its effect on your life now? What have you done to deal with it?

no

17. If your prospective spouse could talk to your parents, what would they say he/she needed to know about you?

They would say that I am responsible, disciplined, devotional, family-oriented, and sincere, and that I value spiritual life, honesty, and maintaining balance between personal, family, and devotional responsibilities.

18. What do you wish you could say to your mother and father that you've never said to them?

I would like to tell my mother and father how deeply grateful I am for their sacrifices, patience, and guidance, and that their love and values have shaped who I am today more than they may realize.

Section 4: Past Relationships with the Opposite Sex

1. If you have had any relationships with the opposite sex in the past (either through marriage or as a boyfriend/girlfriend), what was your last relationship like?

I have not had any romantic relationships in the past, so there is no last relationship to describe

2. What are three reasons you're confident the relationship is over and you can move forward?

This does not apply, as I have not had any romantic relationships in the past.

3. What would those in your prior relationships say about you?

Since I have not had any prior romantic relationships, this does not apply to me.

4. What have you learned from them that will make you a better person for someone this time?

Since I haven't had past romantic relationships, what I've learned comes from family life, observing others, and spiritual teachings. These have taught me the importance of honesty, patience, responsibility, respectful communication, and self-control, which I believe will help me be a better person in any future relationship

5. On a scale of 0 to 10, to what extent do you experience guilt or anguish over your previous relationships?

: 0/10 — this does not apply, as I have not had any previous romantic relationships.

6. How might this guilt be affecting you in building a relationship with another individual?

This does not apply, as I do not have any past romantic relationships and therefore do not carry related guilt

7. How frequently do you have contact with your former partners, if any, and in what way?

I have no contact with former partners, as I have not had any romantic relationships in the past.

8. What is the purpose of the contact?

Yes, I have brothers and/or sisters. My relationship with them is close, respectful, and supportive, based on mutual care, shared experiences, and understanding. We help each other and maintain a strong family bond.

9. What feelings do you experience on these occasions?

On such occasions, I mainly experience calmness, reflection, and gratitude, along with a desire to improve myself and stay aligned with my values.

10. If your past partners (if you had any) were asked if you were honest and trustworthy, how would they answer?

I have not had any past partners, so this does not apply.

11. [If you have been married before] How many times have you been married, including any annulments?

I have never been married.

Section 5: Marriage Expectations

1. What is your dream or fantasy of a “perfect marriage”?

My dream of a “perfect marriage” is a Krishna-centered partnership based on mutual respect, trust, communication, and service. I envision both partners supporting each other’s spiritual growth, living simply, resolving differences maturely, and working together as a team to serve Krishna, family, and society.

2. What has been your source of information about marriage? Parents, elders, friends, classes, books, movies, television, Prabhupada’s teachings, Internet, others (please specify). List whichever combination of the above is applicable.

My sources of information about marriage include: parents, elders, books, Prabhupada’s teachings, and observation of devotees’ relationships. These have given me guidance on values, responsibilities, and spiritual principles in a marriage.

3. What do you believe are some of the important elements that make marriages work?

Some important elements that make marriages work are: Mutual respect – honoring each other’s feelings and opinions. Trust and honesty – being sincere and reliable. Effective communication – sharing thoughts openly and listening carefully. Shared values and goals – especially spiritual growth and family responsibilities. Patience and tolerance – accepting imperfections and resolving conflicts calmly. Support and teamwork – helping each other in all aspects of life, including spiritual service.

4. If you were to marry, what would you receive from marriage that you wouldn’t if you were to remain single?

If I were to marry, I would receive companionship, shared responsibility, and mutual support that are unique to marriage. A spouse offers emotional partnership, cooperation in spiritual practice, and teamwork in life’s duties, which are not the same when one remains single.

5. It is commonly said that a Krishna Conscious marriage is an attempt to balance spiritual and material life. If you agree, explain. If you do not agree, explain.

an attempt to balance spiritual and material life. If you agree, explain. If you do not agree, explain. I agree. A Krishna Conscious marriage balances spiritual and material life because it combines mutual support in devotional service with fulfilling material responsibilities like household management, family care, and work. Both partners help each other progress spiritually while living a disciplined, simple, and harmonious material life, ensuring neither aspect is neglected

6. What are Prabhupada’s instructions about the duties of:

A husband

7. After you get married, ten years from now where would you like to be economically?

Ten years after marriage, I would like to be economically stable and self-sufficient, living a simple lifestyle that meets all essential needs, supports family responsibilities, and allows for contributions to devotional service, without being overly focused on material accumulation.

8. If you are a man, what are your views about your wife working:

option: Absolutely no; othersText:

9. If you are a woman, what are your views on working after marriage:

option: Until we have a child; othersText:

10. Reorder the following in terms of your priorities (High priority first): Service at the Temple, Preaching Duties, Duties towards spouse and household duties, taking care of children, taking care of elderly members of the family, Finances, Health, Service to Guru(s) and spiritual superiors, helping neighbours, hosting guests, charity, friends, relatives.

I prefer a wife who stays at home but if she has an education, she should not waste it. Therefore, she should work

11. Do you feel you need to compromise or sacrifice anything to be a part of a marriage relationship?

I believe that if my wife chooses to work, it should be balanced with family responsibilities and spiritual life. Her work should be meaningful, purposeful, and supportive of our shared goals, without compromising the harmony, devotional practices, or duties of the household.

12. What is your greatest fear or concern about being married? Has this been addressed? If yes, how has your understanding changed?

You as a person: After coming into krishna conciousness,I have stopped giving importance to unnec

13. What is there in your life that you never want to change after marriage or that you would never be able to let go off?

You as a person: After coming into krishna conciousness,I have stopped giving importaniority

14. What are the “must have”, “preferably have”, “preferably not have” and “must not have” qualities in a person you may want to spend the rest of your life with?

You as a person: After coming into krishna conciousness I have stopped giving imppr my priority

You as a person: After coming into Krishna consciousness, I have stopped giving myself my priority

15. What are five reasons a person would want to spend the rest of their life with you as your spouse, and three reasons they would find difficult? Among the three, which would be the hardest adjustment?

You as a person: After coming into Krishna consciousness, I have stopped giving myself my priority

16. If you spend a lot of time on the computer or cell phone, how would you adjust this to work in a marriage?

You as a person: After coming into Krishna consciousness, I have stopped giving myself my priority

17. What is your idea about romantic love? What do you think is the importance of romantic love in a successful marriage?

You as a person: After coming into Krishna consciousness, I have stopped giving myself my priority

18. In any relationship, what part of giving yourself do you struggle with? Would this apply if you get married?

You as a person: After coming into Krishna consciousness, I have stopped giving myself my priority

19. What is your understanding about intimacy in marriage?

You as a person: After coming into Krishna consciousness, I have stopped giving myself my priority

20. What are your views on marital sex only for the procreation of children in accordance with scriptural teachings (Bg 7.11)? Do you think you would be able to follow this standard?

You as a person: After coming into Krishna consciousness, I have stopped giving myself my priority

21. What is your understanding about celibacy in marriage?

five reasons a person would want to spend the rest of their life with you as your spouse, and three reasons they would find difficult? Among the three, which would be the hardest adjustment

22. Do you think all dealings with your friends and/or others should be shared with your spouse even if friends and/or others request specific confidentiality from sharing with your spouse in regard to some dealings?

you spend a lot of time on the computer or cell phone, how would you adjust this to work in a marriage

23. Would you be willing to share with your spouse, all your personal e-mail passwords, mobile phone passwords, passwords for other electronic devices and all passwords in general except those related to your office work?

five reasons a person would want to spend the rest of their life with you as your spouse, and three reasons they would find difficult? Among the three, which would be the hardest adjustment

24. What are the experiences in life you would want the person you married to have had?

you spend a lot of time on the computer or cell phone, how would you adjust this to work in a marriage

25. What are the experiences in life you would NOT want the person you married to have had?

five reasons a person would want to spend the rest of their life with you as your spouse, and three reasons they would find difficult? Among the three, which would be the hardest adjustment

26. If something really bothered you about your spouse, how would you go about expressing it to him/her?

you spend a lot of time on the computer or cell phone, how would you adjust this to work in a marriage

27. List the services in which you would like work alone

five reasons a person would want to spend the rest of their life with you as your spouse, and three reasons they would find difficult? Among the three, which would be the hardest adjustment

28. List the services in which you would like to work with your spouse.

five reasons a person would want to spend the rest of their life with you as your spouse, and three reasons they would find difficult? Among the three, which would be the hardest adjustment

29. Of all your activities, which ones you would not enjoy doing with your spouse although you may do it out of a sense of duty, obligation towards spouse etc.

you spend a lot of time on the computer or cell phone, how would you adjust this to work in a marriage

30. What qualities do you see in your parents that you expect to see in your future spouse?

five reasons a person would want to spend the rest of their life with you as your spouse, and three reasons they would find difficult? Among the three, which would be the hardest adjustment

31. What qualities do you see in your parents that you don't expect to see in your future spouse?

your idea about romantic love? What do you think is the importance of romantic love in a successful marriage

32. Would you mind leaving your present residence to live somewhere else after marriage?

your idea about romantic love? What do you think is the importance of romantic love in a successful marriage

33. For Women: Do you have experience in household work? If yes, do you find it difficult or do you enjoy it or do you have mixed feelings about it? If no, do you have an interest to learn or do you find it somewhat challenging?

your idea about romantic love? What do you think is the importance of romantic love in a successful marriage

34. For Women: On a scale of 0 – 10, rate your expertise in each of the following :

Cleaning: 4; Cooking: 9; Organising home: 9

35. For Men: On a scale of 0-10, rate your expertise in cooking

your idea about romantic love? What do you think is the importance of romantic love in a successful marriage
your idea about romantic love? What do you think is the importance of romantic love in a successful marriage

36. What do you think of the traditional marriage model—that the husband is the leader, caretaker and provider of the family's needs, and the wife favourably cooperates with the husband and manages the household?

your idea about romantic love? What do you think is the importance of romantic love in a successful marriage

37. If you were to marry, in what way would you maintain a healthy "interdependence"? What would you depend upon each other for and what would you take personal responsibility for?

your idea about romantic love? What do you think is the importance of romantic love in a successful marriage

38. Who should have the ultimate decision-making authority in married life?

38. Who should have the ultimate decision-making authority in married life?

Generally by mutual agreement, but by consulting a senior grhastha couple when they can't agree

39. Do you think that the traditional position and role of women from her birth till her death including that depicted in the Bhagavatam is relevant in today's times? If so, how? If not, why?

your idea about romantic love? What do you think is the importance of romantic love in a successful marriage

40. If your spouse were to tell you that he/she doesn't want to do something, or if he/she doesn't feel comfortable doing something you would like to do, how would you want to handle that?

your idea about romantic love? What do you think is the importance of romantic love in a successful marriage

41. If your spouse messed up in a decision, whether in business or just in general, how would you share your frustration about that decision with your spouse?

Would you be willing to share with your spouse, all your personal e-mail passwords, mobile phone passwords, passwords for other electronic devices and all passwords in general except those related to your office work

42. Do you believe your partner and you should be honest about everything in your relationship, or should some things be kept private?

I understand that marital sex for procreation in accordance with scriptural guidance emphasizes discipline, purpose, and spiritual focus rather than indulgence. I believe I would be able to follow this standard sincerely, viewing it as a regulated, 43. Would you be open to seek and receive help from your spouse in some or all challenging areas of Krishna Consciousness in your life? List those challenging areas you wish to receive help from your spouse and those that you do not wish to receive help from your spouse.

Would you be willing to share with your spouse, all your personal e-mail passwords, mobile phone passwords, passwords for other electronic devices and all passwords in general except those related to your office work

44. When you marry, do you want children? If so, how many? Are you open to adoption? What if you had stepchildren?

I understand that marital sex for procreation in accordance with scriptural guidance emphasizes discipline, purpose, and spiritual focus rather than indulgence. I believe I would be able to follow this standard sincerely, viewing it as a regulated,

45. Do you like dealing with children and enjoy being around them?

Would you be willing to share with your spouse, all your personal e-mail passwords, mobile phone passwords, passwords for other electronic devices and all passwords in general except those related to your office work

46. What are Prabhupada's instructions on parenthood? What training have you had to be a parent?

Would you be willing to share with your spouse, all your personal e-mail passwords, mobile phone passwords, passwords for other electronic devices and all passwords in general except those related to your office work

47. Does your idea of education for your children entail that they should go to a school where all students and teachers are Prabhupada's followers? What should be in the curriculum and what should not be in it? Would that curriculum be realistic for your children to live in today's world? If yes, how? If not, what would you do about it?

I understand that marital sex for procreation in accordance with scriptural guidance emphasizes discipline, purpose, and spiritual focus rather than indulgence. I believe I would be able to follow this standard sincerely, viewing it as a regulated, 48. Would you mind your children going to regular schools if you and your spouse were to train them at home, in Krishna Consciousness apart from their school hours? Or would you think that apart from your training, it is also necessary for them to have friends who are Krishna Conscious in school?

Would you be willing to share with your spouse, all your personal e-mail passwords, mobile phone passwords, passwords for other electronic devices and all passwords in general except those related to your office work

49. Do you envision home schooling your children? If yes, what would be its advantages and shortcomings? What challenges do you foresee in implementing a home schooling program?

Would you be willing to share with your spouse, all your personal e-mail passwords, mobile phone passwords, passwords for other electronic devices and all passwords in general except those related to your office work

50. How much do you value "personal time" - time to yourself to reflect, study, or recreate after marriage? How important would this be to you if you were to have children?

I understand that marital sex for procreation in accordance with scriptural guidance emphasizes discipline, purpose, and spiritual focus rather than indulgence. I believe I would be able to follow this standard sincerely, viewing it as a regulated, 51. How would you handle birthdays, special occasions, and so on, when it comes to your biological family and your spouse's biological family? What does gift giving mean to you?

Of all your activities, which ones you would not enjoy doing w

52. You were supposed to attend the Mayapur festival for 8 days as instructed by Srila Prabhupada and one of your friends/cousins is getting married in some other place at the same time. You cannot do both. What would you do? Why?

You as a person: After coming into krishna conciousness,I have stopped giving importance to unnecessary

53. If you inherited a large sum of money, would you still want your partner in your life? Why?

Of all your activities, which ones you would not enjoy doing w

54. What are your views about divorce?

Divorce is strictly prohibited in Krishna Consciousness

55. How much do you think astrology influences the success or failure of a Krishna conscious marriage?

You as a person: After coming into krishna conciousness,I have stopped giving importance to unnecessary

56. What is the best book that you have read in ISKCON about marriages and/or what is the best seminar or best talk on this topic that you have heard? Where can it be found?

Of all your activities, which ones you would not enjoy doing w

57. Most of the associates of Lord Chaitanya Mahaprabhu were grhasthas and empowered grhastha acaryas are also listed in our disciplic succession. Who among them inspire you the most, and why?

You as a person: After coming into krishna conciousness,I have stopped giving importance to unnecessary

58. Who are the grhastha couples in ISKCON that you know who have growing, healthy marriages?

Of all your activities, which ones you would not enjoy doing w

Of all your activities, which ones you would not enjoy doing w

59. After you're married, would you be open to seek ongoing Krishna conscious marriage advise from experienced grhasthas? Who would that be? If not, how do you plan to resolve issues?

You as a person: After coming into krishna conciousness,I have stopped giving importance to unnecessary

60. Left to yourself, would you like to remain unmarried? If yes, what are the compelling factors due to which you have decided to get married? For example: parents, spiritual master, god brothers, god sisters etc.

Of all your activities, which ones you would not enjoy doing w

61. In the light of the number of divorces today, if you were to marry, why would your marriage last and not end up in the divorce court?

You as a person: After coming into krishna conciousness,I have stopped giving importance to unnecessary

